Virtual Reality and Children

Does your child like to play video games?

Then we want to talk to you!

We are hosting a project (Study # 2017-2446) for a research study where children ages 6-8 years will play a virtual reality game about dinosaurs and answer questions about their experiences.

The project will take about 1 hour and will be done at Center for Simulations and Virtual Environments Research (UCSIM) located in University Hall Center for Simulations and Virtual Environments Research (UCSIM) located in University Hall at the University of Cincinnati.

If you have a 6-8-year-old child that would like to play a virtual reality game, please consider participating.

- Each participant will receive a $25 gift card, snacks, and paid parking.
